The Cadogan Estate comprises 16 blocks of houses, built between 1840 and 1860, designed by George and Thomas Cadogan. The estate is a prime example of Georgian architecture and is one of the most sought-after residential areas in London. It is located in the heart of the City of London, just a short walk from the City and the City of London School. The estate is a mix of terraced houses and townhouses, with a variety of floor plans and finishes. The Cadogan Estate is a highly desirable location for both residential and commercial investment. It is a prime location for a variety of businesses, including retail, professional services, and residential development.
